SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH

Seabreeze, July 17.—A highly interesting and detailed newspaper account of the unveiling ceremony at Newport Parish Church, Isle of Wight, of a monument erected by the people, in memory of the late Archdeacon Henry Haigh, father of our popular citizen, Sidney Haigh, was received by relatives here. The writer says, "The handsome tablet of Hopton wood stone, in the Italian Renaissance style. The central panel is occupied by a beautiful medallion of the venerable Archdeacon, this fine portrait in bas-relief being a speaking likeness of one who gave twenty years of his life to the service. The bronze lettering on the memorial is as follows: Henry Haigh, M. A. 1837-1907. Faithful in duty, wise in counsel, a steadfast friend." Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Haigh and children were mentioned as being present at the ceremony.

Town council met in special session Monday night. C. A. Ballough tendered his resignation as mayor, which was accepted. This promotes C. F. Burgman, president of the council, to acting mayor. C. P. Lund was elected president of council pro tem. A new ordinance passed first reading, restricting the construction of any livery stable building within 200 feet of any hotel, boarding house or private dwelling. The ordinance relating to fire protection and sidewalks to be built on newly opened streets passed second reading. C. A. Ballough was awarded the contract for shelling, at one dollar per cubic yard, all new streets north of Butler avenue and east of Pinewood avenue. Julius Young returned with his party, from the boat trip to St. Augustine, Saturday. He reported an enjoyable outing.

Winford and Stella Brown, of Frances, two charming young ladies in pinafores, are guests of Miss Grace Griggs, on South Valley street.

What with the teams hauling mair for the streets, wagons bringing lumber for the new hotel on the Post block, the addition to be made to the Clarendon and the improvements on other cottages, the several squads of men busying themselves clearing and grading ground, the town presents an air of doing something very different from the summer apathy of the last few years, and very encouraging to those who are interested in its growth.

What came near resulting in an accidental drowning took place near the dock on the Peninsula Bridge yesterday afternoon about 4:00 o'clock. Roger Gilmore, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Gilmore, bridge tenders, while casting a net, which was quite a heavy one, for shrimp, slipped and was in some way dragged into the river. Wilma Harding, who was fishing quite near, hearing the splash, looked around in time to see Roger's big straw hat going under the water, and gave the alarm to a stranger also fishing near by, but the man said he couldn't swim and was not acquainted with the depth of the water, so that Roger's chance of rescue seemed quite dubious. In the meantime, Jerome Burgman and Mr. Gilmore, who were approaching the scene on their bicycles, heard the cry of "boy overboard" and hastened to the spot. Jerome got there first and dismounting immediately jumped into the river, which was chest deep at that point, and fished up Roger, locating him readily by means of the straw hat, which could be seen through the water. Roger was still holding on to the cast net, which had dragged him into the water, and when Jerome got him out of the water he cried out "help, help." At first the little fellow seemed quite bright, but in a little while showed distressed symptoms, perhaps the result of the shock as well as the water he had swallowed, and Dr. Van Valzah was summoned. Late last night he was feverish, but resting easier, and it is hoped that with the vitality of childhood he will be all right in a few days.

BOARD OF TRADE

STILL ACTIVE.

Its Membership Increasing Rapidly And Now Includes Nearly Every Business Man in Daytona.

The Daytona Board of Trade held its regular meeting at the City Hall Tuesday evening. President Miller presiding over a fair attendance of the more public spirited business men.

W. C. Nash, B. F. Livingston and W. W. Carter were elected to membership, making a total of fifty-two members, and if all these gentlemen will unite in working for the good of Daytona, there is no doubt that our fair city will make great progress in growth and development.

The question of street sprinkling was considered, and the Board unanimously approved a resolution asking the City Council to pass an ordinance to the effect that whenever two-thirds of the property owners or tenants in any section of city petitioned to have the streets sprinkled, it shall be done and the expense charged pro rata against the owners or tenants of the property fronting on the streets so sprinkled, collections for this service to be made monthly.

Chairman Riemann, of the Press Committee, reported that some valuable free advertising of Daytona and vicinity had been secured by furnishing railroad and steamship companies with attractive pictures and descriptive matter, which being printed and extensively distributed without expense to the Board of Trade will materially assist in keeping our attractions before the traveling public in a very large territory of the north and east.

The next regular meeting will be held at the City Hall evening of Tuesday, August 6th, and officers of the Board of Trade have asked the Gazette-News to especially request all members to attend, thus extending their support and encouragement to those who are working for the advancement of the city.

On Saturday at two o'clock the Board will hold a special called meeting to consider means of keeping dust down on streets in business section; it having been proposed that the Board of Trade purchase oil for experimental purposes.

Improved His Beach Property.

Col. and Mrs. W. M. Shaffner are occupying their beach cottage north of the Seaside Inn. Col. Shaffner has recently made some notable improvements in the property and has demonstrated to his unbelieving neighbors that the artesian water can be piped into the houses on the bluff. To do this the colonel had a well put down in the valley in the rear of his residence and the water was conducted from the well about thirty feet distant with a fall of several feet, to a ram in a pit some distance below the surface. This supplies an abundance of water for bath and all other purposes on the first floor of his dwelling. Col. Shaffner has also put in cement steps at the rear of the house, connected with the front by a cement walk, and proposes later to terrace the lot.

Will Build Docks and Boat Ways.

F. A. Root has about completed the dismantling of the Bunnell saw mill at Holly Hill, the timbers of which he will use in the construction of docks and ways at his place on the west bank of the river, about half way between the North and Central bridges. It is difficult to get heavy timbers even on special order, very often, and much of the heavy stuff of which the saw mill was constructed is suitable for Mr. Root's purpose.

The property purchased by Mr. Root is mainly marsh land lying between the causeway and the river. This he proposes to fill by means of a centrifugal pump, straightening at the same time his frontage on the river.

He will build two docks, with a 100 foot slip between, extending to deep water and at the end of this slip will construct a set of ways which will accommodate any vessel which can enter these waters, as they will be built to handle the largest boats of his own fleet, which are twenty feet beam and between eighty and ninety feet in length.

Mr. Root says he had not counted on building ways here when he came from down coast waters, but found it would be necessary in order to look after his own boats, two of which were too large to be handled here.

Mr. Root says all the marsh land can be readily filled by a suction pump and in course of time it will no doubt be done.

King will accompany Mrs. Bea Ber to Atlanta, which is their old home.

Rev. L. Oser, pastor of the M. E. Church, will soon leave for Cuba, much to the regret of his congregation here, to take up missionary work. The couple took their station in an alcove or bower of smilax and roses and the rooms were profusely decorated with many varieties of this lovely flower.

The bride wore a beautiful white dress, her own handiwork, and the bridesmaid was dressed in pale pink.

A. C. L. to Jamestown Exposition.

The Jamestown Exposition, like all other expositions, when it first opened, did not have all of the building completed nor all the exhibits in good shape. This exposition will be kept open, and by referring to the advertisement carried in this paper, you will note very attractive rates and time limits to suit the variation of any one.

Realizing and appreciating that one day in the week, namely Tuesday, was the only day on which each excursion tickets could be purchased, the Atlantic Coast Line has instructed all their ticket agents that the coach excursion rates will be in effect on Fridays as well as Tuesdays, making two days in the week on which people who did not feel like going to the extra expense of buying pullman berths but wanted to take a trip off for an outing, can avail themselves of this very reduced rate, which is about one cent a mile for distance traveled, or $14.45 for the round trip from Jacksonville.

By consulting your nearest railroad agent, he will quote you rates through, not only for the coach excursions, but any additional limit of ticket. If you cannot see the agent personally, drop a card to Frank C.
